Emergency Grant Assistance
for Responding to Humanitarian Crisis in Iraq

- 1 On September 11, the Government of Japan announced its decision to extend additional Emergency Grant Assistance of 4.5 million US dollars through UNHCR in view of humanitarian crisis in Iraq.
- 2 The Government of Japan remains concerned about the unstable humanitarian situations of the displaced people suffering from harsh conditions even after liberation of Mosul.
- 3 Therefore, the Government hopes that this new humanitarian assistance will contribute to the improvement of their living conditions through provision of shelters and daily commodities for the coming winter.
- 4 With this, the total amount of assistance provided by Japan to support internally displaced persons (IDPs), Syrian refugees and host communities in Iraq since February 2014 has reached around 366 million US dollars.
